

I understand that the FCC is determining whether to strike New Jersey's "do not call list". I for one am thankful that there is such a law here in New Jersey. Too bad if the telemarketers are upset. I pay for the use of my telephone (not to mention all of the phone taxes) and should have a strong say over who contacts me. If I am eating dinner, sick, entertaining guests, etc., I do not want to have to deal with unwanted and unnecessary phone calls. Please leave New Jersey's law alone. Thank you.
